About Me

Dr. Sandy Andersson (formerly Levenson) is a 1981 graduate of ADIO Institute of Straight Chiropractic which later became Pennsylvania College of Chiropractic. (PCC closed in 1995 and the alumni were adopted by Sherman College)

Born and raised in West Orange, NJ, she remembers her first adjustment at age 6, and at 13 she proclaimed she would become a chiropractor. Dream fulfilled!

Dr. Sandy has served on the board of the Chiropractic Fellowship of Pennsylvania, as President of the Alumni Association of Sherman College (a short, long story), and as President of the Souderton Board of Trade. As a Competent Communicator in Toastmasters, Int'l she has presented for many organizations, especially in her position on the Board of Laurel House, Montgomery County women's shelter. She is a member of the Pennsylvania Chiropractic Association, the International Chiropractic Pediatric Association, the WDC, and The ChiroChix.

Dr. Sandy recently retired following 40 years in practice. Her office included a chiropractic office as well as a wellness center offering massage, acupuncture, reflexology, nutritional coaching, and yoga.

Dr. Sandy has 4 children and 4 grandchildren. In 2014 she married Russell Andersson, hence, the name change. Life is good.

She is grateful every day to have this profession as an avenue through which to express her creativity, passion, and purpose.
